

As December 21st draws near my heart is overwhelmed with regret and hope for all the student that where effected buy my poor decision making. I am deeply sorry for the crime and dishonesty that I have done. I know what I have done was wrong and I hope that the students that where effected by my act of untruthfulness would forgive me. There is no justification for what I have done. My heart goes out to the special need students in this case I hope that they will still pursue their college educations and not allow my foolish mistake to hinder them from being successful young people. I am sorry that I didn't adhere to guidelines set by ACT and SAT. When this first started, I thought I was helping some special needs students, not that its right, but I felt sorry for them being able to manage their grades but scoring poorly on standardize test. I didn't care about the money. I felt like they deserved an opportunity. I was wrong although they deserve the opportunity just not in the manner it was done.

Because of my poor decision my life has changed tremendously. I struggle daily with being able to support myself. I am so ashamed and disappointed in myself. My daily reflection is a constant reminder of how hard I must work to rebuild character and self-worth. I realized that I hurt kids that believed in me most and I am truly sorry for not being there for them. I loved working at Jack Yates High School and I truly miss my JY community and I am truly sorry for letting them down. This has been a long road and it has taught me how one's thoughtless acts can affect so many people. Through all of this I must set goals for myself, find a way to make it through successfully.

Whatever my outcome is I trust God will see me through. I messed up and I've asked for His forgiveness. I believe that the kids are our future and I will continue to encourage them to work hard to be successful young men and women. I'm not quite sure what occupational direction I'm pressing toward but I know I want to help as many people as possible on my journey.

DEFENDANT NIKI WILLIAMS' AFFIDAVIT

I, Niki Williams, hereby swear under the pains and penalties of perjury the following is true to the best of my knowledge:

1. I am the defendant in this matter. I pleaded guilty to one count of mail fraud and I take responsibility for my actions.
2. I acknowledge that I was given money by Martin Fox for my role in this offense. The only dispute I have is with the amount of money the Government says I received.
3. By way of background, at the time of this offense, I was working as a special education teacher's assistant. My annual salary was approximately $20,000. I did also proctor exams for the SAT/ACT. But I did not receive that much money from it and no more than between $500-$800 a year.
4. Between the money I earned working and my monthly expenses, I did not really have savings. I largely lived paycheck to paycheck. I was able to pay my expenses, but I was aware of every dollar that came in and out of my checking account.
5. I never asked Martin Fox for any specific amount of money. He gave me money and I accepted it. But I never asked or negotiated for any amount. It was the same with Rick Singer. He offered to send me a check, which I accepted. But I did not ask for a specific amount and took what he gave me.
6. For the three times Martin Fox recruited me to help with the exams, he paid me $2,500 in cash. I remember this vividly because $2,500 is a lot of money to me. I was not making enough money at the time that I would forget whether I received $2,500 or $5,000.
7. When I received the check from Rick Singer, I obviously saw it was for $5,000. Because I had not had contact with Martin Fox for that exam, I assumed Mr. Singer was paying me both our shares. That is, I assumed that Mr. Fox and I each received $2,500 each time. Because he was not a part of this test, I assumed I received the entire $5,000.
